

He Knew Pat Joyce and He Wishes Him Mighty Well

Lydia Arnold, of Donovan and Arnold, now playing at the Orpheum.

There's a good natured Irishman on the bill at the Orpheum this week and it will do anybody good to meet him. If you can't meet him personally, get a bit of his Celtic humor, professionally, anyway.

And he's a great friend of Pat Joyce.

Indeed he is. And he knows all about P. A.'s ancestors, the county in Ireland he came from was full of Joyces and when he heard his old friend was a candidate for mayor he let out a yell that would have set the audience at the Orpheum Sunday matinee in a panic, had they heard it. Only it was after the performance and the theater was empty.

His name? Oh, yes—James B. Donovan of the Irish team of Donovan and Arnold. Begorra, James, didn't have a picture of himself so he slipped up one of his good looking wife who acts as an attractive aid to his Irish stories and songs. When did I first meet Patrick Joyce? he asked in response to the same question. "Let me see, it was back in 1899 or 1900. I was starring in 'The Ivy Leaf.' I remember and keeping with Mr. Blackford across the street. I have it! It was the night that hotel burned and several poor actor folks were caught in the flames. Esmeralda, the wire walker, was one, that I helped care for after the firemen carried her out."

"You mean the Grand View hotel on Vista av.? That was in 1900."

"That's the place and that's the year. I met a lot of good Irishmen that visit. Another one—he's in some prison now—not in—in charge of it. Fogarty? That's the lad, an' a great big he is, too. So my friend Joyce is out for mayor? May he win in a walk—an' I wish I lived here so I could vote for him!"

MRS. WM. ASHER GIVES 2 SERMONS AT ST. PAUL'S

Mrs. William Asher of the Billy Sunday party delivered sermons at the services at St. Paul's M. E. church Sunday. In the evening a tabernacle hymnal service was held, and the "Red Books," popular during the Sunday revival, were used. The auditorium of the church as well as the balcony was well filled at both services.

In the morning Mrs. Asher preached on "Questions." She urged that people ask themselves the question, "Does my life please God?" She said that many people were trying to live Christian lives by trying to please men and pointed to the way that they could live to please the Master by studying the Bible.

"I believe that great things are in store for South Bend, beginning this fall," she said, pointing to church work. She said the people had been schooled in religious teachings in South Bend for a purpose, and prophesied that the people would rally to God in the fall, to please Him and give up pleasing man.

Too many people are able to quote stanzas and paragraphs from noted authors and poets, she said, but few people are able to quote readily from God's book, owing to a lack of study and thought about it. "We should study that we may be able to think and understand more clearly of His work. We must allow our thoughts to be sweet all the time. Be like the rose and the lily every day of the week, not like the flower on Sunday only," said she.

"Rody" Still III. Before her sermon she announced that the condition of Homer Rodeheaver, who was to have delivered the sermons on Sunday, was not as favorable as had been hoped. According to Mrs. Asher, "Rody" is seriously ill, although the big singer will not give up. It is hoped by the party that he will be well enough to take up his part of the services at Steubenville, O., Sept. 14.

Billy Sunday will probably return to Winona next Sunday, against the protests of his wife and members of the party, who fear that his return may bring on the hay fever, chronic to the evangelist. Miss Grace Saxe recently completed a week's stay at Wilkes barre, Pa., where she took active part in services at various churches.

At Mizpah Evangelical. Rev. J. O. Mosier delivered a sermon Sunday night at the Mizpah Evangelical church on the subject, "The Three Types of Conversion." He used the three types of conversion found in Acts to point out three distinct ways of conversion.

The jailor, Lydia and the Ethiopian were the types. He compared the three saying that the first labored indifferently under authority, and the last by laboring in a public way by making personal inquiry. He showed how an earthquake stirred the first, how prayer and a proper sense of grace stirred the second, and how thinking and personal inquiry moved the second to accept the Christian life.

Last he showed that the jailor accepted Christ because of fear, while Lydia accepted because of love and the Ethiopian accepted because of learning. Thus fear, love and learn-

Heat is Quick to Affect the Bowels

Well-Known Fact That Extreme Heat Conduces to Chronic Constipation.

So many people are in the habit of eating cold food in hot weather that constipation is very common during summer. It is best to vary the food and have some hot things, as, for example, soups and hot fish and meats, if that is to be the diet. Ice water should be drunk sparingly.

In spite of all care people will become constipated, and if you find yourself in that condition you can get immediate relief by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. There is no time of the year when you should be more careful of constipation than in the summer, for many of the serious illnesses as well as the fatalities result from clogging up of the bowels.

You also need general good health to withstand the heat, and hence Syrup Pepsin is best to take because it contains tonic ingredients that help to build up the entire system.

Numerous users throughout the land will verify these facts, among them Mr. C. Allen, 408 N. Main St., Reading, Mass., who recovered his health completely after using only two bottles; and Miss Anna Schott, 249 S. Washington St., Baltimore, Md., who used four bottles and now has her mother and friends also using it. They now avoid drastic remedies like cathartics, tablets, purgatives, salt waters, pills and such things. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is mild and pleasant, and children like it. You can obtain it of any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a large bottle. Each bottle must do what is claimed or your money will be refunded.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it, postpaid, by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 415 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

TOURISTS CHARMED BY SCENIC STREAM

New York Men Follow St. Joseph River From Hillsdale, Mich., After Listening to Legend of "Treacherous Water."

Stopping for dinner at the Mishawaka Saturday evening a party of four men en route from New York city to Los Angeles took occasion to comment on the beauty of the St. Joseph river. The men termed the stream that passes through Mishawaka "the Hudson of the west," adding that for natural scenery and lack of artificiality the "Treacherous Waters" of the Indians surpassed anything they had encountered on their trip.

Business called the tourists out of their way to the river. At this place they overheard the legend of the St. Joseph river, and, being interested in the story and having plenty of time they decided to forsake their "road guide" as far as South Bend and follow the river.

From its source at Hillsdale to this city, the tourists claim the river lived up to all the story-teller at Hillsdale had claimed for the river at this place. The men making the trip are Leon Haskill, Charles Downing, Harrison Colby and John Trask. The first three are connected with a tire manufacturing concern of New York, while the latter is a newspaper man. Although on a pleasure trip the men are experimenting along the way with a new tire invented by Haskill. The tire is a semi-pneumatic and if it withstands the trip in good order will be marketed by the New York concern.

Many photographs are being taken along the way and they are to be used in a booklet being written by Trask of the party. It is said that the legend of the St. Joseph river and views taken along its banks will hold a prominent place in Mr. Trask's printed account of the journey.

AT THE THEATERS

ORPHEUM OPENS.

Fairly shining wit, new paint and new decorations, the Orpheum theater opened its doors to the public for the season of 1913-14 with a show that is well worth seeing. There is not an act on the bill that is anything but good, and if the management engages the same class of acts throughout the season, the house may be assured of good patronage.

The theater itself has undergone many repairs since the season closed in June and has the appearance of a show house that has just been thrown open to the public. Ivory, green and gold are the new colors of the theater and with these trimmings the house presents an inviting appearance.

It would be hard to say just which act is the top liner as all of them are worthy of that place. Donovan and Arnold have a nonsensical act entitled "All Mixed Up." Where the name comes from is a question but the name is not the act. Donovan has some good lines in it that keeps the audience laughing throughout the act. Most of his comedy is carried on in monologues, but he is capable of putting it across so that it does not become tiresome.

Arthur Deming, a black face comedian, is one that is known to South Bend audiences. He has been in the business for years, and came here with a new act. He has several good jokes and his jokes are new and clean. Deming ranks with Lew Dockstader, Billy Van, George Evans and the other famous Dacktown comedians.

Demarest and Chabot, who are known in vaudeville as the "Kubellix of Vaudeville," have an act which takes in violin, cello and piano. They play some of the well known opera tunes and then change to rag. One of their features is the playing of "Snooke Ookums" as it would be played in opera.

As a novelty Whitney's Operatic Dolls are billed. There are five people in the company. Four of them take the part of dolls. They use a miniature stage and marionette figures. The two sailor dolls are clever.

The Ishikawa Japs close the bill with an act that is entirely new in South Bend. They do not put on the common tumbling act but do most of their work standing on their hands. The act opens with the four members of the troupe standing on one hand and is so worked out that the curtain goes down with the men in the same position.
